Gifts From Handpicked

Here at Insight we absolutely love it when a company grabs our attention and brings us inspiration, especially when it comes to gift ideas, what with Mother's Day and Easter just around the corner! So, when we came across Gifts from Handpicked, we just had to tell you more about this gorgeous range of products...

Full of fantastic items that can provide great gifts or simply as a unique addition to your home, Gifts From Handpicked supply an array of beautiful products that ooze style and quality, perfect for those seeking homeware with a difference and design-led items. Collections are carefully hand-selected by Founder, Natalie Yates, with all products added for their sheer appeal and ability to excite.

Keen to offer something that little bit different, this superb online boutique supplies quirky door stops to plaques to make you smile, along with homeware, garden gifts and accessories that will enhance any living space. All tastes are catered for, with a variety of bestselling brands that include East of India, Gisela Graham and Heaven Sends, just to name a handful!

An established online retailer, Gifts From Handpicked has been growing from strength to strength, with a loyal customer base forever expanding, with their niche items tapping into the demand for quality and value. We spoke to Founder, Natalie, to find out more about how Gifts From Handpicked became such a favourite for online shoppers...

"After being made redundant I took the opportunity to tap in my passion for niche and pretty accessories to another level, making a business out of something I loved. I wanted to bring quirky and different products to a wider market and Gifts From Handpicked blossomed! As the name suggests, we handpick all the items within the ranges, always looking out for great accessories and gifts that offer something different to the usual options on the average High Street. So, whether someone is looking for a special gift or simply a treat for themselves, they can find it with Gifts From Handpicked!"

Whatever you're looking for, you'll find with this superb site, with everything from shabby chic, retro, classic, and contemporary styles to choose from, providing you with a great choice to suit any budget. So, whether you're seeking to find a gift for a new arrival, birthday or yearning to enhance your own home, you can find what you're looking for at
